The map displays a residential area with various buildings and streets. A yellow line, representing a 70 km/h speed limit, runs diagonally from the top left towards the bottom right. A red line, representing a 100 km/h speed limit, follows a similar path but is slightly offset from the yellow line. A dark blue line, representing a 50 km/h speed limit, runs horizontally across the middle of the map. The map also includes several speed limit signs: a '100/100' sign in the top left, a '70/100' sign in the middle left, and a '70/10' sign in the bottom right. The background shows a detailed street network and building footprints.
